Updates from the Head of Vietnamese – Primary

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Spring has arrived, bringing with it a fresh and vibrant atmosphere filled with hope. SIS Van Phuc welcomed the Lunar New Year with joyful and talented musical performances during the 2025 Tet event. Students and teachers showcased their talents through cheerful melodies, creating a lively and colorful celebration. Tet at SIS is not just a festival but also a special opportunity for teachers and students to create lasting memories while preserving cherished cultural traditions. The year 2025 promises to be a new journey full of excitement, creativity, and success!

Alongside their studies, the school continuously strives to provide students with opportunities to relax, explore their talents, and enjoy hands-on learning. In Year 4 art lessons, students demonstrated impressive skill by crafting clay paintings filled with themes of family love. Similarly, Year 3 students enjoyed experiential learning during Technology class, where they creatively designed their own rulers. While making a ruler might seem challenging due to the hard materials required, the unique and imaginative rulers created by SIS students truly reflect their creativity and enthusiasm.

Over the past month, many exciting activities have taken place, encouraging students to express themselves and develop their strengths. The school remains committed to nurturing each child's potential through love and knowledge. Thank you, parents, for your continued support, care, and encouragement, which empower our teachers and students to step confidently into the future.

As we embrace the new year 2025, we wish all SIS teachers, students, and families a wonderful school year—one filled with learning, growth, and the confidence to shine brightly on the journey ahead!

Sincerely,
Ms. Huong

Updates from the Head of Vietnamese & The Head of Studies - KIK

Dear Parents/Guardians,

February at our school has truly been a month full of love, laughter, and exciting lessons! After the Tet holidays, our young learners eagerly engaged in new experiences and activities.

This month, our KIK students learned all about different modes of transportation and the importance of road safety. They enthusiastically participated in role-playing activities and had the opportunity to showcase their favorite transportation-related items during their Show and Tell session.

In Literacy, the students diligently practiced their writing skills, reviewing sight words and practicing word blending. They've made great progress and shown great enthusiasm in their task!

The children also engaged in various activities to enhance their fine motor skills, while sparking their creativity, curiosity, and problem-solving. It's wonderful to witness their growth and excitement as they explore the world around them.

Thank you for your continued support in your child's learning journey. We look forward to another exciting month ahead!

Best Regards,
Ms. Hang & Ms. Diadem
